'Glow Of Publicity' Snuffed Out For Kennedy Family's Trip

LONDON (AP)—Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy looked out of her limousine today and found her discomfited by reporters and photographers. The tower's helicopter guards kept the crowd back. The children posed for photographers with a young man, Alfred, holding a huge executioner's axe. John sucked on a lollipop as he inspected the Crown jewels. "Tell me," he asked, "who owns these?" "The Queen," replied a guide. "Very good," said John. John met the Queen last Friday when he dedicated the memorial to his father at Run-

Salesmen From Canada Busy Seeking Wheat Deal With China

OTTAWA (CP)—A team of Canadian wheat board negotiators now in Hong Kong, discussing a further sale of wheat to Communist China, a trade department source said today. The team, headed by William Riddell, assistant chief commissioner of the board, is discussing a sale which may amount to 50,000,000 to 80,000,000 bushels of wheat under the existing long-term China wheat sale contract. The contract runs to Aug. 1, 1966, and China already has bought 107,500,000 bushels under it. By the contract which began Aug. 1, 1963, China contracted to buy a minimum of 112,000,000 bushels and Canada agreed to sell up to 187,000,000. The new sale, if completed, will complete China's minimum purchase requirement but probably will leave room for an additional Chinese purchase within the bracket of Canada's commitment to supply.

A LIGHT FROM BEFORE EARTH WAS BORN Space Speeders Far Out

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—An astronomer said Monday that five recently found radio sources—including one the Hubble space telescope might be a super-civilization—are the farthest and fastest-moving objects yet discovered. The most distant called 3C-9, appears to be receding at 80 per cent of the velocity of light, or 149,000 miles a second, Dr. Maarten Schmidt told a symposium at the California Institute of Technology. The radio source made famous last month by Russian reports of 100-day signal variations, called CTA-102, is receding at 114,000 miles a second, said Schmidt, Caltech professor of astronomy and staff member of the Mt. Wilson-Palomar observatories. The five are so far away scientists don't know how to mea-

Blinds Drawn In Tonypandy

TONYPANDY, Wales (AP)—Blinds were drawn today in the terraced back-to-back houses marching up the grim Rhonda Valley hillsides as the families of Tonypandy mourned the death of 31 coal miners in an explosion 600 feet below ground.

U.S. Again Hits Reds

SAIGON (AP)—The United States resumed air strikes against North Viet Nam today, a U.S. military spokesman said. The spokesman said 59 U.S. Navy planes from the U.S. 7th Fleet carrier Coral Sea attacked a petroleum storage area at Phu Qui, 125 miles south of Hanoi, North Viet Nam's capital. Initial pilot reports said severe damage was inflicted on the target.

The strikes were the first against the Communist north in six days. There was no explanation here for their resumption. Twenty A-1E propeller-driven Skyraiders and A-4 jet Skyhawks, supported by 19 F-4 Phantom jets, hammered the target with 25 tons of bombs, rockets and air-to-ground missiles in a 30-minute assault, the spokesman said. The planes encountered light ground fire and all returned safely, the spokesman said. No enemy aircraft were reported seen. The break in the day-by-day bombing, never officially explained, was widely regarded as a potential opening for a Communist effort for peace negotiations.

SAIGON (CP)—South Viet namese ground forces and U.S. helicopters killed 150 Viet Cong and captured 31 in the operations Monday and today. But the Viet Cong inflicted heavy casualties when they attacked a hamlet 100 miles east of Saigon and badly mauled government reinforcements.

Cyclone Toll Up To 12,000

KARACHI (CP)—Some 12,000 persons were feared dead today in the east Pakistan cyclone which struck a week ago. An estimated 7,000,000 inhabitants of the devastated area are homeless and damage is estimated at $200,000,000.

Official figures put the death toll at around 5,500. But the Pakistan Press Association reported from Dacca it was feared that at least 12,000 had died as 100-mile-an-hour winds and tidal waves battered eight regions in the southern part of east Pakistan. Radio Pakistan said from 90 to 100 per cent of the flimsy bamboo houses in the disaster area had been destroyed. The agency said there was a shortage of drinking water in the areas where the sea, whipped up by cyclonic winds, breached coastal defences and engulfed thousands of acres of crops May 11.

There is fear that epidemics of cholera and smallpox will sweep villages where the water is contaminated. It was the third such disaster in five years to devastate the rice paddies of the Ganges Delta, on the Bay of Bengal. In May, 1963, an estimated 12,000 persons died in a storm and tidal wave. About 20,000 died in 1960 from monsoon storms, and 2,000 died in 1962 from cyclones and tidal waves.

Barry Goldwater ... yellow peril

Russia And U.S. 'May Be Allies'

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—Barry Goldwater said Monday he expects to see the day when Russia and the United States will be allies in a war with Communist China. Speaking at a luncheon here, the 1964 Republican presidential candidate said he thinks "Red China" will eventually go through Asia, go through India and Pakistan. Describing China as already "very strong in North Africa," Goldwater said: "Eventually, I don't know how long it's going to take, but eventually we'll find Red China dominating one-third to one-half the land mass of the world." When the time comes, he said, the United States will again find itself allied with Russia, this time against the Chinese.

Nothing In Fund For City's Loan

Kelowna Chosen For 1967 Tattoo

Kelowna has been selected as a site for the Canadian Armed Forces Tattoo in 1967, it was announced today in Victoria. The city will be treated to the spectacle of the Tattoo as part of the centennial celebrations, and will be the only venue in southern B.C. where this important event will be held. Tentative dates are May 14-15 at the Kelowna Memorial Arena. L. J. Wallace, deputy chairman of the Canadian Confederation Committee of British Columbia, said the complete Tattoo would be split into two groups, one unit coming to Kelowna and the other going to Prince George. After the performances, the groups will merge and an outdoor Tattoo will be held in Victoria, to be followed by a mammoth celebration in Vancouver at the British Empire Stadium, then the groups will move to eastern Canada. First indication that Kelowna had been honored for a major part in the coming centennial celebrations came in a despatch from the Canadian Armed Forces Headquarters in Ottawa, when Brig. C. A. Peck, Director General of the Centennial Committee, notified the Kelowna committee, headed by the Kelowna city had been chosen for the Tattoo. More than 400 troops will form the band in the Tattoo to musically depict the glorious history of the first 100 years of Confederation. City council received notification Monday night from the Confederation Centennial Committee of B.C., and immediately started plans to prepare for the gala affair. J. H. Hayes, general secretary of the Kelowna Centennial Committee, said the celebration committee, under T. A. Capozzi, had been informed of the Tattoo and were now working out details.

Only Four Performances Planned For Whole Of Western Canada

Importance of the event was indicated by city officials who pointed out that only four performances will be given in western Canada, all in British Columbia. The Tattoo set for the city, visitors can be expected from all points in Southern B.C. The Tattoo date is not expected to conflict with the proposed presentation of Guidon to the British Columbia Dragoons, also scheduled for May 1971.

Major R. J. Talbot, vice-chairman of the joint Civic-Regimental Guidon Committee and Kelowna Centennial Celebration Committee, feels that Tattoo could complement the Guidon ceremonies. A letter has been sent to the B.C. Military area to see if separate weekends can be arranged for the celebrations, but if that is not practical, he feels the two ceremonies can be completed without conflict. The presentation of Guidon brings up the subject of closely linked dates during the centennial year, for in such an important ceremony, either Royalists must be present, or be designated by the Queen. It is known that the Queen has been invited to Canada for the centennial celebrations, but there has been no confirmation of any acceptance. The Queen would normally present Guidon, or delegate her personal representative. This could possibly be Lieutenant Governor George R. Pearkes, V.C.

German Guns Greet Queen

BONN (Reuters)—Britain's Queen Elizabeth arrived here today by air from London for an 11-day state visit—the first such visit by a ruling British monarch in more than 50 years. A 21-gun salute thundered out as the Queen and Prince Philip stepped from the plane into a cloudy spring day. Present at the airport to welcome the royal couple were a host of West German dignitaries headed by President Heinrich Lübke and federal Chancellor Ludwig Erhard.

The Queen shook hands with them as well as with members of the diplomatic corps. A German band then played the British national anthem.

But Plans To Go Ahead Now On Two Most Urgent Projects

Kelowna city council Monday passed four bylaws under the night-revenue official notice. But before Kelowna could sign the Federal Municipal Development Loan Fund. But council decided to go ahead with part of the proposed work. The fund was set up by the federal government Aug. 2, 1963. It was aimed at increasing employment by aiding communities that were not able to finance through normal channels. A total of $400,000,000 was set aside for the fund and B.C. received $35,000,000. The actual proposal for a number of projects was sent to city council by city comptroller Doug Herbert on November 1963. In December 1964 city voters said this was no longer a justified on and overburdening duty.

Water, Streets, Firehall, Bridges All Listed Under Original Bylaws

The four bylaws dealt with the intake were both now urgent waterworks, streets, fire hall matters. Mr. Lawrence said more was needed for the great expansion of the intake further into Okanagan Lake and repairing reservoirs. The second provided $55,000 for a fire hall extension. The third was for $200,000 to resurface city streets. Fourth $130,000 to provide a railway overpass and fix bridges in the city. During the discussion on the matter at council both city engineer E. F. Lawrence and Ald. Thomas Angus said the situation would be justified in going ahead on the water pump, extending the intake and adding to the fire hall. "Our firemen have fine equipment that cannot be stored in City comptroller Doug Herbert said there were no strings attached to the ratepayers' permission to borrow money for the projects. Ald. Angus said the new water pump and the extension of the intake were both now urgent.

B.C.'s Public Universities Announce Increase In Fees

VANCOUVER (CP)—British Columbia's three public universities today announced fee increases. The Universities of British Columbia here and Victoria and Simon Fraser in neighboring Burnaby made their announcements simultaneously. Each hiked the undergraduate fees in arts, science and education $56 to $428 a year. UBC in addition announced $44 to $80 increases for undergraduates in other than arts, sciences and education and virtually doubled post graduate fees. The other universities have low, medium and high agriculture among other things. Each university said that they regretted the increase but said they were forced by rising costs. UBC graduate fees will double to $900 from $422. Some 400 students embarking on graduate programs in September will pay $300 a year. But the present 900 graduate students will complete their studies under the present payment schedule of $372 for the first year plus $50 for each additional year.

Canada's Military Attache Termed 'Hooligan' In Moscow

MOSCOW (Reuters)—Col. Curtis Greenleaf, Canadian military attaché in Moscow, was accused tonight of "hooliganism" after drinking in a Russian restaurant. The government newspaper Izvestia said he swore, made anti-Soviet propaganda and made an effort to attack a Russian who asked him to be quiet. The paper says the incident took place in Tsimblov, northern Russia, where Greenleaf was on a trip with three American military attaches. A Canadian spokesman said Greenleaf was in Tsimblov in mid-April but he said the Izvestia article is an "unjustified attack."

Izvestia says the three Americans were present but it does not accuse them of misbehaving. The three are Lt. Col. Ralph N. Albright and Maj. Vladimir Skouly, assistant air attaché, and Lt. Col. Richard de Hosh, assistant army attaché. DRINKING TOGETHER The article says the incident began after the attaches had been drinking for about half an hour. Izvestia says that Greenleaf, meeting on the imaginary trigger of a machine-gun, shouted to the whole room: "I hate you, we'll shoot the lot of you, annihilate you."

Be Patient — Pearson

REGINA (CP)—Prime Minister Pearson said Monday night that the federal government is not in a hurry to make any major changes to the federal aid policy, but he asked for patience and understanding.

The Liberal leader said that at times "there does not seem to be adequate recognition by the provincial governments of what Ottawa has done or what it can do more at once."

He spoke to 1,500 persons at a 22nd-plate Saskatchewan Liberal fund-raising dinner marking the first anniversary of the provincial party's term in office.

Among his listeners was Premier Rose Thatcher who is sometimes critical of Ottawa.

Mr. Thatcher and his cabinet met with Mr. Pearson earlier Monday to talk over a Saskatchewan demand for tax concessions for potash mines that use a washing process to extract the ore.

WANTS TAX WRITE-OFF

Mr. Thatcher wants a three-year tax write-off for new potash mines, the same deal now in effect for shaft potash operations. Mr. Pearson promised to re-examine the request.

In his speech, Mr. Pearson said "the federal government is now in a major source of provincial funds and a target of provincial criticism as well as some of it, perhaps deserved, most of it undeserved."

The federal government, Mr. Pearson said, has given more assistance—financial and other—

Irate Miners Take Over Pits — Bolivian Rulers Under Seige

LA PAZ (Reuters)—The Bolivian military junta today ruled this landlocked South American country under a state of siege after armed miners took over several mines Monday night in protest against the exile of their leader.

Miner administrators and engineers were taken hostage and all but two of the country's nationalized mines were said to be paralyzed. It was not known how many were being held of their nationality.

One person was killed and 19 were injured—some by bullets—when police clashed with 7,000 striking workers in La Paz protesting the banishment to Paraguay of Juan Lechin Oquendo, leader of the miners and a former vice-president. A government spokesman said eight of the wounded were policemen.

After the bloody rioting and general strike in La Paz, the junta declared the state of siege and ordered a general mobilization of all males 19 to 50. The move was evidently designed to put the men under military law.

DECLARE POSTS VACANT

The junta also declared all labor union posts vacant and said they would be filled by union elections to be held within 60 days.

Untrained Men Handle Bombs Says Letter From Dead Soldier

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—An army demolition expert who apparently died in the bomb explosion at Ben Hue, South Vietnam, had written home that untrained men were handling bombs at the air base, his wife says.

A chain explosion of bombs in U.S. planes Sunday left 27 Americans dead or missing and 103 wounded. Among the missing was Capt. Ernie McFeron, 30, of San Antonio.

Mrs. Mary McFeron made public some of her husband's letters Monday in an interview.

In one letter McFeron spoke of an American officer who played a key role in disarming bombs and supervising loading of U.S. and South Vietnamese bombers, although he was untrained in demolition work.

"The officer, McFeron wrote, 'had never even seen a bomb up close before he got here. And now he thinks he knows everything there is to know about them.'"

McFeron said he was afraid "but he frequently wrote, 'I've never been so disgusted in my life.'"

The West German Supreme Court declined to press charges against publisher Rudolf Augstein and editor Conrad Ahlers of the news magazine Der Spiegel (The Mirror). The ruling came nearly two years and seven months after both men were arrested in a case that rocked the government of then-chancellor Konrad Adenauer. It eventually forced the resignation of his defence minister, Franz Josef Strauss, above.

Public Hanging For Israeli Spy

DAMASCUS (AP)—Elie Cohen, 40-year-old Egyptian-born Israeli who pulled off the biggest espionage coup in Syria's modern history, was publicly hanged in Damascus shortly before dawn today.

The tiny, self-confessed Israeli intelligence agent, hands tied behind his back, climbed the gallows in the city's ancient Al Marja Square at 3:35 a.m. He was officially pronounced dead four minutes later.

Cohen's body, wrapped in a white sack from chest to feet, was left dangling from the gallows for the usual seven hours of public exhibition.

Cohen, who used the identity of a returning Lebanese immigrant from Argentina to cover his three-year spying activities in Syria, became the first Israeli ever to hang in public here.

Director Urges Vaccine Program

Immunization has beaten most common communicable diseases, but our vigilance should not be relaxed, the director of the South Okanagan Health Unit told a conference in Kelowna today.

Dr. D. A. Clarke spoke to 75 delegates attending the 1963 combined meeting of the Canadian Medical Association, section of general practice and the College of General Practitioners.

"There are exciting changes in the antigens (what is injected into a person's body to stimulate antibodies and provide immunization) being introduced today," Dr. Clarke said.

"For example, a new measles vaccine is being introduced. It is a live attenuated virus, somewhat like the oral polio vaccine now in use."

LEADS DEATH TOLL

Measles today leads the death toll from children's common communicable diseases, he added. He recommended a community-wide vaccine program.

As yet no public health department in North America has started a community program, he said.

Experiments are underway to include measles vaccine in the quadruple vaccine given to children, Dr. Clarke pointed out.

"This would mean dropping Salk in the quadruple series, replacing it with oral vaccine. Salk is good, but it is not perfect. More effective prevention of polio is becoming available."

"One study determined that 30 per cent of the children given four Salk injections were not adequately protected from polio. Quebec has already dropped Salk, but the program has been effective and we will carry it on here for at least another year," Dr. Clarke said.

SCHEDULE

The schedule of immunization and the need for adults to keep up their immunization level was also discussed by Dr. Clarke.

"We believe that 75 per cent of pre-school children are adequately protected against the four most common communicable diseases—measles, mumps, diphtheria and smallpox. And 90 per cent of school children are adequately protected. Of course we aim for 100 per cent of the children, but the real problem is the very small percentage of adults who are adequately protected. They should be immunized at least every five years to maintain a level of protection," he said.

EFFORT NEEDED

Dr. Clarke recommended a concerted effort to have adults get tetanus toxoid booster shots often enough to maintain an adequate level of protection.

As new discoveries about the best time for immunizations are constantly being made, schedules should be assessed yearly. The public health departments and pediatricians must cooperate to arrange these schedules, Dr. Clarke said.

Cyclist Hurt In Truck Crash

RCMP said a 15-year-old Kelowna boy, Russell Emmond, was taken to the Kelowna General Hospital with an injured leg following a motorcycle-truck collision at 1:40 p.m. Monday at Richter St. and Clement Ave.

Russell is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Emmond, 2733 Richter St. Hospital authorities said he was discharged today. Police said the driver of the truck was Caesar Turri, 533 Clement Ave. They are still investigating.

RCMP received a report of an empty car in the ditch at 8 a.m. Sunday. Investigating they found a car driven by Ron Stewart, 1907 Richter St., went out of control on Highway 97 near the junction with the Old Vernon road, and turned upside down in the ditch.

Police said the driver escaped without injury and no charges are contemplated. Damage is thought to be extensive. There were no passengers.

Two Students Take Prizes

Two students from the Kelowna Secondary School have won prizes in the poster contest sponsored by the Canadian forestry association of B.C., a release from Vancouver said today.

David Luke, 15, a Grade IX student, won first prize in the junior division. He is the son of Mr. L. H. and Mrs. Luke, 744 Delfort Ave.

Second prize in the same division went to Patricia Gerlach, 14, also a Grade IX student. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Gerlach, 1191 Bernt Ave.

This is the 15th year the contest has been held. Entries must have a forest fire prevention theme. Winning entries are forwarded to Ottawa to be entered in the national contest. They are also entered in the international contest which will be judged in Vancouver later this year.

Former City Resident Said Killed In U.S.A.

Gary McCaig of Kelowna told the Daily Courier he believed Terry's death in Lewiston, Montana, May 11, was the result of an industrial accident.

Terry was manager of a city service station in Kelowna from about 1959 to 1962. His parents now live in Montana.

No Forest Fires Now Burning In Kelowna Ranger District

There were 110 new forest fires reported in B.C. this week but none were in the Kelowna ranger district.

This brings to 184 the total number of fires to date. Last week 76 were put out.

The estimated cost of last week's fires is $5,250.

Total cost for the 184 fires this season is $9,950. In the same period in 1962 there were 140 fires costing $4,700.

1962 was an exceptionally low fire-occurrence year, the forest service said. This year, although the number and costs of fires are above 1962, they are still far below the 10-year average.

In the Kamloops forest district, which includes Kelowna, there were 83 fires to date. This compares with 56 in the same period last year.

The Kamloops district had 53 fires during the week. The total cost in the district to date is $3,400 compared with $1,800 last year.

Higher temperatures have caused a slight increase in the fire hazard but all districts still report low-moderate hazard, the forest service said.

Cloudiness and scattered showers will accompany a west shore weather system into the Interior Wednesday. Sunny weather is predicted for the district today, clouding over in late afternoon.

Winds will be light today, southerly 20 Wednesday and a little cooler.

Low tonight and high Wednesday at Penticton will be 40 and 60.

A high of 63 is forecast today, following an overnight low of 33. Last year on this date the low was 46 and a high of 73.

Legion Members Attend Parley

Seven delegates from the Royal Canadian Legion in Kelowna will attend a Legion convention in Victoria May 22-26.

This is the 27th biennial convention of the Pacific Command Royal Canadian Legion.

Attending from Kelowna will be: Harold Whitehouse, president; Percy Maundrell, past president and past commander of the North Okanagan zone; Art Gordon, past president; J. C. Earle, secretary-manager; J. E. Byers, first vice-president; and executive members Robert Simpson and Alex MacFarlane.

The installation of provincial command officers will take place on the last day of the convention, Mr. Earl said today.

There will be 85 resolutions put before the convention. Some will deal with basic pensions and pension increases.

Lieutenant-Governor G. B. Pearkes will open the convention and hold a garden party for delegates. There will be a parade May 23, Mr. Earl said.

UP FOR ELECTION

R. F. (Bob) Koenig, member of the Kelowna Kiwanis club, will be a candidate for the office of governor of district No. 5 at the district convention to be held here May 24. Election will be held May 24. District No. 5 covers all of B.C. and has 76 clubs.

Mr. Koenig has been a member of the Kiwanis club in Kelowna for 15 years. He was president in 1960 when Kelowna held the national convention. He is a past deputy governor of the Okanagan Mainline zone of district No. 5. He was named Kiwanis of the Year in 1963-1964. He is married and has four sons.

Request from the Kelowna Centenary Committee to use Harvey Ave. for a parade June 26, 1967 at 7 p.m. was turned down by city council. They suggested Bernard Ave. would be a better parade route.

Council turned down a request from Super Valu for two access to their new parking lot onto Bernard Ave. Super Valu wanted an exit and an entrance, but the traffic advisory committee has a policy against exits onto Bernard Ave.

The traffic advisory committee discussed two proposals to service club. He suggested the Dr. Knox group should encourage the formation of more Key Clubs in Kelowna.

William Hawker, principal of Dr. Knox, welcomed the club to the school.

Membership cards and pins were presented to the Key Club members by Mr. Henderson.

Other members are: David Evans, Douglas Usher, Trevor Chamberlain, Douglas Rutherford, Randy Allan, Reginald Evans, Craig Thompson, David Deschamps, Jack Hawkey.

The Dr. Knox band played three selections they recently entered in the music festival.

A brass quartette—March of the Priests by Mozart—an all-girl quartette played a march by Beethoven and a brass quartette played in Modio sponsored by an international religious group.

OBJECTIONS were raised by people who have owned land in that area for years, some of it vacant and some in commercial operation, when they found their land was to be rezoned residential.

The area, including 509 acres and 584 people by count, was included in city boundaries at a plebiscite held June 30, 1961.

Prior to Monday night's meeting the city clerk had sent out letters to 232 property owners adjacent to the land that was to be rezoned.

At the meeting people who lived on the north side of Old Vernon Rd., that forms the northern boundary of the area, objected to having commercial property opposite their homes.

A number of people in the Five Bridges area said they had purchased their property at low commercial zone rates and value if it was rezoned.

ALDERMAN SPEAKS

Ald. Thomas Angus, who was chairman of the temporary rezoning committee, said he was entirely against the rezoning proposal of the staff planning committee.

"When we held meetings with the residents of the area before we included them in our boundaries, we said we would accept them with their present zoning," he said.

"I think council is morally wrong to now change the zoning."

After the discussion council decided to take another look at the staff planning committee proposal. Residents who own commercial property that is to be rezoned were asked to submit letters to council showing how much they would lose in commercial zone rates and value if it was rezoned.

COUNCIL BRIEFS

City council Monday night decided to advertise two lots in the 900 block Ethel Street for sale at $1,875 each. Okanagan Telephone Ltd. has offered to buy the lots from the city to extend their present holdings in that area.

On January 15 John Woodworth asked council to rezone 2500 Abbott St. next to Wardlaw park for an apartment development. On the advice of the staff planning committee, council Monday night refused the request.

The Kiwanis club of Kelowna was given council permission to sell peanuts on the streets from 5 to 9 p.m. Friday June 4, and from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Saturday June 5.

On the recommendation of the traffic advisory committee, council agreed to have stop signs erected on Brookside Ave. and on Pacific Ave. at Caroline Rd. and to have the signs on Caroline Rd. at Brookside Ave. removed.

Council received a letter from J. D. Pettigrew commending the city on the number and variety of plants in the city greenhouses and complimenting the city greenhouse staff on its work.

The traffic advisory committee also asked that the edge of the sidewalk on the south side of Clement Ave. be painted yellow for a distance of 30 feet east of Ethel St. Council agreed.

E. F. Lawrence, city engineer, reported to Ald. Thomas Angus for council that sewer mains and manholes are just over 50 per cent complete and service connections are slightly under 50 per cent complete in the Glenmore area, as of April 30.

A request from the Kelowna Centenary Committee to use Harvey Ave. for a parade June 26, 1967 at 7 p.m. was turned down by city council. They suggested Bernard Ave. would be a better parade route.

Council also authorized a letter of commendation be sent to operators of Big White for the way they have developed that area. Mayor Parkinson said the ski resort was a great benefit to the area.

Council also requested the city clerk to forward a letter to Bob Simpson expressing the city's condolences in the death of Mrs. Simpson.

Mayor Parkinson asked the council to authorize a letter to the BCFGA signifying council's support for any efforts put forward to have the provincial and federal governments give assistance to fruit growers suffering from the December frost.

FIRST SERVICE CLUB SPONSORED BOYS' ORGANIZATION IN KELOWNA

Key Club Chartered Monday Night

Thirteen students of Dr. Knox secondary school were installed Monday night as charter members of the first Key Club in the Kelowna district.

Curt Snook is president of the new organization. Other executive members are: Peter Turgoose, vice-president; Thomas Atkinson, secretary; and Ronald Nadalin, treasurer.

Harold Johnston, charter president of the Kelowna Kiwanis club, started 17 years ago this month, presented a charter to the Dr. Knox Key Club.

Curt Snook, accepting the charter on behalf of the club, promised to maintain the high club ideals and to promote co-operation in school and community.

BOYS RESPOND

"I have seen boys respond to the challenge of the Key Club," I have seen a better school because of the Key Club. The Kiwanis Club of Summerland is a better club because it sponsored a Key Club. I have seen my own son grow and accept responsibility because of the Key Club.

"In Summerland there is a better relationship between citizens and teenagers because of the Key Club," Mr. Tamblyn said.

Allan Hassell, of Vernon, Kiwanis 12-Gov, district five, presented the badge of key club sponsorship to Evan Williams, past president of the Kelowna Kiwanis club.

Mr. Hassell urged Key Club members to "participate". If the club has an activity or project, jump into it. You only receive what you give, he said.

Kon Atken, of Penticton, 12-Gov, of the Key Club, said the Key Club was unique because it is the only school service club sponsored by an international religious group.

Convention Business Important This Year

The Okanagan Valley, where most publicity is given to the fruit industry, will be able this year to assess the true economic complexion of the area.

Our news staff was taken to task by fruit industry officials a few days ago for, as they put it, attempting to minimize the effect of last December's frost.

At that time we were not trying to minimize the effect, but rather to put it in its proper perspective.

We quoted people who would be quoted and said that some growers in the valley would be hard hit.

The true effects of the frost will not be known for months and as far as the trees are concerned may not be known until next spring. We admit the frost was a serious blow to the fruit industry. It will also affect many businesses and many people.

The housewife that has depended on part time work in packing houses will have to look elsewhere for that extra dollar or two they depend on so much.

Those who only work during the packing season will not have enough stamps in their book shortly, to draw unemployment insurance.

All these people will have to make adjustments.

This week however, the visitor and convention committee came up with a set of figures that is well worth studying.

During May alone, conventions will drop some half a million dollars in Kelowna places of business.

One garage man told Bob Gordon of the visitor and convention committee a delegate to one of the conventions last week came in, ordered four new tires for his car, and paid cash on the spot.

We have repeatedly detailed where the visitor dollar goes, how many facets of the business community split up the dollar.

These conventions do not take into account the ordinary visitors that come to Kelowna just for the scenery.

Granted however, some who come for the spectacular blossom season will not be here this year, there are still those who come to the area for other reasons.

The chamber of commerce and its various committees works hard to bring visitors to Kelowna. In this season when we are more than ordinarily dependent on the visitor, business people and others, would do well to look to their treatment of those new faces.

The adult education committee is now running a course to up grade cafe and hotel waitresses. We hope those who have had no formal training are among the students.

French Culture?

Moose Jaw Times-Herald

It must be obvious to the members of the Bi-and-Bi Commission that if bombings and other depredations are the culture of Quebec which the commission seeks to implant in other parts of Canada, then an energetic housecleaning job needs first to be done in La Belle province.

The bombing of the American consulate in Montreal was a demonstration of downright stupidity, and completely useless other than to reveal there is a lack of training and refinement of mind, tastes and manners.

Freedom does not extend to and include violence, a fact which does not appear to have been taught to the populace in Quebec.

Of course, if the object was to humiliate law-abiding Canadians and the government of Canada, the purpose may have been accomplished, for External Affairs Minister Paul Martin had to apologize and extend the regrets of Canada to U.S. Ambassador Butterworth.

The Bi-and-Bi Commission before continuing with its efforts to gain acceptance of the French-Canadian culture of Quebec in other provinces, could not do better than develop a better sense of refinement, education and training in Quebec. It is apparent that there is need for training and refinement of mind, tastes and manners among Quebec's population. If planting or throwing of bombs is culture in Quebec, then we want none of it in Saskatchewan. It is possible that there are objectors to U.S. internal and external policies in other provinces, but thus far there have been no silly stupid bombings, nor is there likely to be.

Only when the bombers have been caught and punished will Canada's reputation with her nearest neighbor be re-established. The world must be assured that Canada, or that part of it which is Quebec, will not tolerate this type of conduct.

Pulling Wrong Way

Victoria Daily Times

Premier Bennett seems to be dedicated to a long, uphill struggle to persuade the people of British Columbia to feel a resentment against Canada. His charges of federal discrimination against this province, of deliberate efforts by Ottawa to create a gulf between nation and province, his list of alleged instances of federal support wrongfully withheld from various highway and public works projects, and his high-tension diatribes against the federal government for its opposition to his efforts to put his provincial administration into the banking business—all these have failed to stir any enthusiasm among the people.

Mr. Bennett might as well recognize it—British Columbians are Canadians; they are part of the nation against whose government he so loudly rails. They will not be led astray by emotional appeals designed to weaken their allegiance to Confederation.

GETTING CROWDED

Patience Not Rule Any More For Viet Cong Strike Force

So far, the Communists have not tried to seize control of the big cities of South Viet Nam. Instead they have drawn their strength from the countryside. The following analysis shows how the guerrillas fight an opponent who depends on wings and wheels.

SAIGON (AP)—For a long time, the Viet Cong Communists have had a secret weapon—patience.

The pattern is beginning to change now, in some respects. The Communists are making mistakes. This may be a result of boldness generated by the conquest of so much territory. Some Communist actions seem so unlike the seasoned guerrillas that occasional Viet Cong disasters appear traceable to the presence of fighting units from Communist North Viet Nam.

As a rule, however, patience remains the watchword, especially in areas where Communist control is not firm.

The Communists have a sort of nose looped about Saigon. They menace the highways feeding the capital, over which government forces have only tenuous control. They command positions on the banks of the Mekong River whose shipping supplies the city. But they seem unwilling to take the political and military gambles involved in an attempt to strangle the capital.

The Communists, operating in the Chinese pattern of inflicting the countryside first, are not yet ready to take on the cities.

Patience, painstaking organization and iron discipline have been keys to Viet Cong successes which 500,000 government troops, backed by 30,000 Americans with planes, helicopters and firepower, have been unable to reverse.

PLAN FOR WEEKS

A classic Viet Cong operation can be weeks in the making, while scattered units, edging toward a rendezvous in groups of three from all directions, come together for a long-planned attack on a government stronghold.

This system of three-man cells is important to Viet Cong organization. Each man of the three is responsible to and for the two others. He watches them, lives with them, eats with them, fights with them, even reports on their attitudes. The cell is like a set of inseparable trip-lets.

The cells come together in battalion, regimental and even greater strength, to move on the major objective. As the Viet Cong plans to move more and more territory, units on the move become bigger and bolder. Today there are larger Viet Cong concentrations than ever before moving across the country all the way from the Cambodian border to the South China Sea. With them move heavy weapons, sometimes filtering past the capital company by company under the noses of the Saigon authorities.

The cells organization is such that only a few at lower levels know what the plans are, so that captured guerrillas cannot give information.

Where Communist control is firm, units of several thousand men have moved without being hit. Big units can lay ambushes stretching for miles along highways.

Disturbing Ducks

Just Part Of Job

PALMERSTON NORTH, N.Z. (CP)—Two city councillors of Palmerston North have been granted a special licence to "harass and disturb" wild ducks which have gathered in large numbers on two small lakes in the city area.

It is feared the ducks will become a menace to health, and the two councillors have been assigned to scare them away. They plan to maintain a barrage of noise during the day and to run a speed boat with blinding lights at night until the ducks become discouraged.

B.C. ACCIDENT TOLL
VICTORIA (CP)—Accidents on B.C. highways took 77 lives in the first three months of the year. The toll was an increase of five over the same period of 1964. Mishaps increased 10 per cent and property damage by 14 per cent while injuries were down three per cent.

WASHINGTON CALLING

Kennedy Brothers

Oppose Johnson

By GORDON DONALDSON
Daily Courier Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON—The Kennedy brothers Robert and Edward have broken with President Johnson over key policy issues at home and abroad.

They now appear to be leading a new liberal movement in the United States Senate. Obviously they are laying the groundwork for 1972 when Johnson will have to leave the White House. He will run for a second full term in 1968 but cannot run again after that.

The Kennedys are still determined to put another member of the family in the White House, which one remains to be seen. The man to beat for the Democratic nomination will be Johnson's heir, vice-president Hubert Humphrey.

So in the past week they have made two important moves to win support from Humphrey.

Robert, the freshman senator from New York, refused from the outset to behave like a new boy, but held back his reservations about LBJ's policies.

DISAGREEMENT

Now he has made it clear he disagrees with American actions in Viet Nam and the Dominican Republic. In Viet Nam, he said, the U.S. is paying too much attention to military matters and too little to the diplomatic and political aspects.

On the Dominican situation, he warned: "Our determination to stop Communist revolutions in the hemisphere must not be construed as opposition to popular uprisings against injustice and oppression just because the targets of such popular uprisings say they are Communist-inspired or Communist-led or even because known Communists take part in them."

Then he quoted a news report from Santo Domingo saying: "That while there were Communist in their midst, the top rebel command was in the hands of non-Communists who fiercely proclaimed their opposition to Communism."

Many other reporters who were on the spot, including myself, agree with this.

SPEAKS UP

Then it was Teddy Kennedy's turn. Although the 33-year-old younger brother has been Senator from Massachusetts for several years he has kept pretty quiet. While brother Jack was President and brother Bobby his Attorney General and chief adviser, Teddy obeyed the Senate Club rule that youngsters should be seen and not heard.

Last week he came of age politically. He led a liberal attack on Johnson's Civil Rights Policy and nearly managed to persuade the Senate to strengthen Johnson's voting rights by banning poll taxes in state and local elections.

Mr. Johnson thanks the poll tax amendment unconstitutional-al and resents any tampering with his bill.

Despite heavy pressure from the White House, vice-president Humphrey and Republican leader Sen. Everett Dirksen, Ted Kennedy recruited 45 senators of both parties and came within four votes of victory.

Humphrey is thus cut off from both sides. While a senator he led the liberals and opposed the poll taxes which deprive poor Negro and Spanish-speaking minorities of the right to vote. He advocated caution in the use of America's great power abroad.

BRIBED

But since LBJ gave him a five-along hat, a cowboy suit and the job of vice-president, he has to defend LBJ's actions to the end.

The Kennedys are moving in to grab the liberal leadership and there is little Humphrey can do about it. Robert's Foreign Policy attack was probably sparked by a Johnson speech in which he seemed to cast a slur on President Kennedy's handling of affairs.

"He said we do not propose to sit here in a rocking chair with our hands folded and let the Communists set up any governments in the Western Hemisphere."

Johnson said he also uses a rocking chair but it has not become a trade mark as was JFK's chair.

Robert, who helped shape most of his brother's foreign policy made it clear he would have shown more restraint in the use of raw military power.

KEEP QUIET

President Kennedy, Eisenhower and Johnson have all said at one time or another that in times of national crisis the critics should either keep quiet or pass their complaints along privately to the administration. If this course were followed it would effectively stamp out any criticism as the U.S. is now constantly embroiled in crises in one place or another.

Criticism of Viet Nam and Santo Domingo is mounting, spurred by protest meetings and "teach-ins" at more than 30 universities.

The State Department has sent out "truth squads" to silence professors and students and they have met rough treatment. One State Department speaker, shouting over a chorus of boos and catcalls, told Boston students: "If you're afraid to fight I don't know how I can help you."

The Kennedys, who are notably unafraid to fight, are getting some of the benefit of the academic protests.

It's a long time until 1972 but Kennedy election tactics have always been to start running flat out as soon as possible and keep going that way.

It's A Late Spring But Worth Wait

WASHINGTON (CP)—Some say April in Paris.

In Washington, make it May. Spring has been a long time coming by then to this capital and the climate is a billion birds, blossoms and delicately-green leaves in a city of trees.

One color explosion followed another even before the massed splendor of Japanese cherry trees—late this year—reached rose-hued perfection in mid-April.

The procession began in late February with crocuses and daffodils. By early April, as the first tourists began flooding in, there were long yellow sprays of forsythia, forests of cherry, plum and crabapple blossoms, the pink and white bursts of the tulip magnolia and carpets of ground flowers.

There have been dogwood tree blossoms—pink or white, redbud azalea, lilac and the lavender of wisteria clusters.

Before May is through—and before Washington gets its grimy behind its air conditioner to ride out the torrid heat from late June to late September—it will have also savored roses, laurel, rhododendron and the sweet scent of the honey-suckle.

To Canadians at least, Washington is notable as the Southern city it is for having only three seasons. A tundra in blenda so subtly with spring that winter is squeezed out.

That was particularly true this last season when the peak temperature Christmas Day was a freakish 74 degrees and when none of the four or five snowfalls was heavy enough—about six inches is usually sufficient—to call school off.

But if Washington is a blooming bower, it seems at times to take a long time to get there compared with the haste of an Alberta crocus or an Ontario mayflower.

Foliage, and the birds and beasts that go with it, is a carefully-nurtured characteristic of this city, which began its relentless urban sprawl into adjoining Maryland and Virginia during the Second World War.

In Washington itself, buildings are limited to a height of 13 stories. There are wide black areas of the District of Columbia—especially in some sectors where the big Negro population lives—but elsewhere the trees loom thick and large on private and public lands.

VARIETY OF BIRDS

In them now are the warblers and the mockingbirds. There are doves, scarlet tanagers, cardinals, robins, Baltimore Orioles and thrushes—and even at night the extended song of the Canada white throat, or what sounds like it.

Washington, bird lovers say, supports 14 to 15 birds an acre compared with one-third that density in a average Eastern wooded areas.

The federal planners have been lavish with space and trees. Many lots are large. There is the big green grass of the Stock Creek Park cutting through the district, bearing herring and shad in season and harboring foxes, raccoons and muskrats.

The Potomac River, partially cleaned of its lethal pollution of a decade ago, supports waterfowl.

$ Million Resort Put On Books By Calgary Group Near Nelson

CALGARY (CP)—A group of Calgary businessmen has purchased land near Nelson, B.C., about 175 air miles southwest of Calgary, to set up a multi-million-dollar recreation resort area that would offer the sportsman a wide range of year-round activities.

One official of Kokanee Springs Development Ltd. of Calgary says the company would have to spend at least $7,000,000 "before the doors of the project could even be opened."

Kendall Jennings, Kokanee president and president of Jennings Drilling Co. Ltd. of Calgary, says now that the developers have purchased 5,000 acres on the east shore of Kootenay Lake, about 25 miles from Nelson, and taken options on another 5,000 acres, "we are committed to proceed."

$2,000 Reward Made For Lemay

OTTAWA (CP)—A $2,000 reward will go to the person whose tip led to the May 6 arrest of Georges Lemay at Fort Lauderdale, Fla., a spokesman for the Bank of Nova Scotia's security office said today.

Lemay is being held by U.S. Immigration authorities for illegal entry into the U.S. and faces extradition by Canada in connection with the looting of a Montreal branch of the Bank of Nova Scotia in 1961.

The bank spokesman said the reward for Lemay has ranged as high as $10,000, but dropped to $2,000 at the start of the year.

But the person who noticed Lemay's wanted poster on television may get an additional award, he said.

British Columbia government. No definite construction date has been set.

Mr. Jennings says the idea for the project came "after we purchased a lot in the area about two years ago for our own entertainment. We started to look around and decided that this project could be done."

One company official describes the country "as the most beautiful I have ever seen." The climate is temperate and vegetation is of the rain-forest type.

HOT SPRINGS AT SITE

The proposed project would eventually include an 18-hole golf course; two ski areas for professional and amateur skiing; a large hotel-motel complex; marinas; a heated, outdoor swimming pool that might be supplied by a natural hot spring; three to four miles of sand beach, and facilities for pack-hunting parties into the nearby Selkirk Mountains.

Mr. Jennings says the Selkirks are populated by deer, moose, elk, bear, upland caribou and possibly mountain sheep further east. Kootenay Lake has Kamloops, rainbow and Dolly Varden trout.

A ferry runs across Kootenay Lake and would land in the middle of the Kokanee project. Highway 3A from Creston runs through the site and a road is proposed from Kimberley.

Mr. Jennings says the developers are also interested in housing and adds that the firm, incorporated recently, hopes that general development associated with the Columbia River power project will spark investments by other motels or result in a townsite.

A United States engineering firm has been retained by Kokanee to study snow conditions for the ski areas which, the company feels, could rival those of Jasper and Banff in Alberta.

INTERPRETING WORLD EVENTS

Queen in Germany Today As Gesture of Friendship

The AP world spotlight this week reports on the Queen's forthcoming visit to West Germany and political satire in Hungary.

LONDON (AP) — Twenty years after the end of the Second World War, Britons are making their greatest gesture of forgiveness and friendship to their old enemies—the Queen is going on a state visit to West Germany today.

The gesture has been a long time coming. The United States and France, which also fought Germany beside Britain in two world wars, showed their feelings in visits by President John F. Kennedy and President Charles de Gaulle.

Britain's leaders have guessed that public opinion in Britain where anti-German feeling lingers on, would not accept such a visit. Now Prime Minister Wilson and the Queen's advisers think the time is ripe; the wounds need mending.

The Queen's visit to the land of her ancestors starts today and ends 19 days later. It will be a grand tour in the old style of the last British reigning sovereign to make a state visit to Germany—King Edward VII in 1909. Only five years after the splendor of that occasion England and Germany were at war.

In Britain memories go back to another time. Newspapers last weekend carried bitter-sweet, nostalgic reminiscences of 1945 and pictures from dusty files—a little girl crying, being lifted from the rubble of a bombed London house, a German bomber's eye-view of the burning Thames docks.

But it is likely most Britons, like most Germans, welcome the art of reconciliation by their sovereign head of state, German officials think the Queen will get even bigger welcome than de Gaulle and Kennedy and Papen Jaspers are being handed out to German school children.

COVER LARGE AREA

Elizabeth II will travel widely over Germany—to Bonn, the capital first, for the official welcome by President Heinrich Lübke, then a Rhine River trip, past crumbling castles of feudal barons, to Munich, Stuttgart, Salem, Marbach, Cologne, Düsseldorf, and Berlin.

This land was the second home, and sometimes the first love, of some of her ancestors. For 200 years England was ruled by men born German princes. Some spoke only German, or English with a thick German accent.

This is the Queen's first visit to Germany. Her husband, Prince Philip, who will travel with her, will feel more at home. Like her, he has German blood. He was brought up speaking German and he has travelled to Germany several times to see relatives.

A few voices have been heard opposing the visit. The Daily Express is a frequent critic of German foreign policy and a constant campaigner for the withdrawal of the 50,000 British troops on NATO duty in Germany.

The Express has called for the visit to be cancelled, accusing some German leaders of "playing politics" with the Queen—who traditionally remains completely divorced from political issues.

The Express has also warned that the Queen's planned visit to West Berlin May 27—when she will see the Berlin wall—could involve her in an international crisis.

The possibility of incidents when the Queen flies across Communist East German territory to West Berlin has also worried British officials. Prime Minister Wilson has said that if events at the time make the trip seem risky he will call it off. Elizabeth and Philip are to fly to Berlin without a fighter escort, and the East German government has said it will regard the royal couple's presence as non-political and make no trouble.

BUDAPEST (AP)—The Hungarian chaffeur was telling political jokes, laughing at some and waving both arms around so much that the drive through the city was as hair-raising as a road race.

He had dozens to tell, and it was the same with the Hungarian friends who pointed a correspondent's crowd among the pines and new parts of the city. It comes that way in some of the variety theatres also—satire, teasing, rebuke. Budapest is like no other city in the Communist camp. Everybody has a gay story about communism to tell, or about how Hungarians live, and even more, about how people live in other Communist states.

This country has broken away from many of the restraints that make some of the other Communist capitals gloomy and dull under the pressure of police watchfulness.

Satirical stories are part of the routine of such theatres as Vadim, where the actors compete for laughs.

UNDERMINE PRESTIGE?

Superficially many of the political jokes about Hungary and other Communist countries are simply light and gay but you can't help suspect that they will have an undermining effect on the prestige of communism.

When Nikita Khrushchev cracked down on Soviet writers in 1963 he said this sort of thing, if allowed to go on, could undermine the regime.

There are efforts to control it.

Secret Mission Dispatched By Johnson To Dominica

WASHINGTON (AP) — Operating in extraordinary secrecy, President Johnson sent a high-level mission to the Dominican Republic last week-end, its evident three-fold objective: To end the civil war, bring dissident elements into a provisional coalition government and keep Communists and extreme rightists from gaining control.

U.S. officials tried to keep the mission's presence in Santo Domingo a secret, and once the secret was out both the White House and the state department remained tight-lipped about its purposes.

The mission is composed of McGeorge Bundy, a presidential assistant on national security affairs; Thomas C. Mann, undersecretary of state; Cyrus R. Vance, undersecretary of defense, and Jack H. Vaughn, assistant secretary of state for inter-American affairs. They have been the president's chief advisers since the Dominican crisis erupted April 24.

But while Washington officials refuse to talk for publication about the mission, Latin American diplomats are willing to discuss the matter. They say the president obviously was motivated by efforts to:

1. Bring the two major forces in the Dominican struggle, and representatives of all factions except Communists and extreme rightists, together in some plan to form a provisional government.

2. Emphasize, by the very dispatch of a mission, the importance he attaches to a peaceful solution of the Dominican civil war.

3. Try to safeguard the Organization of American States' role in dealing with the problems in the hemisphere and not allow the problem to go by default to the United Nations.

REBELS WANT UN ACTION

The Latin diplomats say Johnson seems determined that the OAS not become discredited as a vehicle for mediation and peace making in the Dominican Republic. The rebel forces, in contrast, appealed for United Nations action.

here, but it is not easy. From time to time the Vadim Theatre is asked to trim its patter, but it simply drifts off the stage into the cafes.

Vadim's actors unabashedly ridicule slow building, sluggish farming and bureaucratic foul-ups.

In one scene, an American blasted that people were free to tour abroad. "Eighty thousand Americans came to Hungary last year," he said. "That about balances the 150,000 who left here for the West in 1956," replied another actor, and the audience applauded and laughed at this reference to the Budapest uprising.

A very important question. Better consider it slowly and thoughtfully - over a glass of Old Style. While you're meditating, note the flavour. Bold, forthright. Yet there's nothing rough about it, is there? On the contrary, natural aging has made it mellow and mature. Gentle, in fact. That's it! Suddenly, the answer is clear and you realize... you're happy. This calls for another Old Style!

Spies Included In Soviet Visits

WASHINGTON (AP) - FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover says spies are included in virtually every Soviet group that visits the United States - diplomats, correspondents, scientists, businessmen, students and cultural exchange missions.

"In regard to the Communist bloc espionage attack against this country, there has been no letup whatsoever," Hoover told a House of Representatives appropriations subcommittee.

"Our government is about to allow them to establish consulates in many parts of the country which, of course, will make our work more difficult," he added in testimony March 4, made public Monday night.

Asked whether he thinks advantages in cultural exchange will offset this disadvantage, the man who has headed the FBI for 41 years replied:

"We have found in practically every cultural exchange group or student group that has come to this country, there is always a member of the KGB, the intelligence service for the Russian government. They are called students but some are 34, 37 or 38 years old."

SHRIMP RATE BIG Shrimping is the most important part of the United States fishing industry, bringing in more money than all other types of fishing in some states.

Rutland Redcaps Blanket Enderby With 6-0 Victory

Rutland Redcaps won their second game in as many starts when they blanked Enderby 6-0 Sunday.

Redcaps' Dave Cooke allowed only three scattered hits, one of which went for extra bases. Shipmaker, Enderby's first baseman, rapped a double in the opening inning. Thirteen Enderby batters were retired by strikeouts.

Cerry Yamaoka led the Rutland batters with a double and a single, and Greg Barnes hit two singles.

Bruce Stevens also doubled in the sixth, driving in Barnes with Rutland's final run.

The Enderby team is not as strong as last year's aggregation that won the league championship. They have a team in the northern circuit of the Canadian Major League, which has drawn off their strongest players.

The team that played here Sunday contained mostly youngsters.

NEW YORK (AP) - When Jackie Gordon was named assistant general manager of New York Rangers last week, his new boss gave him a warning: "You'd better get a couple of new suitcases."

Gordon spent the last 14 years with Cleveland Barons of the American League, first as a player and later as coach and general manager. He inherits Francis' old job of trouble-shooting throughout the Ranger organization and knows what a grand it can be.

"The Rangers have about 600 players in the organization, including our own team, professional farm clubs at Baltimore, St. Paul and Vancouver and 18 amateur teams," Francis said last October when he was named general manager of the club. "I've seen them all."

SPECIALIZED IN SCOUTING That adds up to a hefty travel log and it's what Gordon can look forward to with the Rangers. He'll be concentrating on scouting and player development, specialized jobs that require diplomacy, salesmanship and spend in today's competitive player market.

PARIS (Reuters) - Trudy Groenman of The Netherlands scored an easy 61, 62 victory over Vicki Berner of Vancouver in the first round of the women's singles in the French tennis championships here today.

Jail Term "Appalling"

VANCOUVER (CP) - A five-year penitentiary sentence for a boy of 16 was termed "utterly appalling" by B.C. Appeal Court Justice H. I. Bird here Monday.

The chief justice made his comment while considering the appeal of John Raymond Justice against a sentence imposed for stabbing RCMP Corporal John Lawson near Salmon Arm on Jan. 28.

Also appealing are a 15-year-old youth and Wayne Charles Scott, 17, both of whom were convicted with Justice of assault causing bodily harm.

Chief Justice Bird said he sympathized with Magistrate Noel Dawson, who imposed the sentence.

He said feeling was probably running very high in Salmon Arm at the time of trial.

Victoria Racer To Try "500"

VICTORIA (CP) - In 11 years of racing stock cars, Billy Foster of Victoria earned the nickname "Neatle Threeder" for his ability to slip through the pack.

Last weekend in a powerful rear-engine Offenhauser he roared around Indianapolis Motor Speedway at an average 154.416 miles an hour to become the first Canadian ever to qualify for the 500-mile Memorial Day classic.

On May 31, he gets his chance to thread the needle with some of the best drivers and fastest cars in the world.

'FRISCO BLAZE CAUSES $1,000,000 DAMAGE

Policeman Has To Pay $32,000 For Accidentally Shooting Boy

OTTAWA (CP)—The Supreme Court of Canada today ordered a Montreal police constable to pay $32,000 as the result of a warning shot he fired at a fugitive from justice in 1957.

The court in a three-to-two decision ruled that Constable Joseph Goyer was negligent in firing several warning shots at Ralph Beim, then 14 years of age. One of the bullets struck Beim in the neck, causing serious injuries.

Beim had stolen a car and was driving the wrong way on a one-way street when Goyer and another constable began chasing him.

Beim abandoned the car and was fleeing on foot over a rocky snow covered field when the two constables began firing shots over his head in an effort to make him stop.

Constable Goyer stumbled while firing one of the shots, and the bullet, instead of whizzing over Beim's head, hit him in the neck.

A Montreal jury awarded Beim damages of $32,000. It said Goyer should not have had his finger on the trigger of his service revolver while running over a rough and stony ground. However, the Quebec appeal court set aside the jury's finding.

Mr. Justice Douglas Abbott said in the majority judgment that was evidence to back up the jury's verdict. It should not have been set aside by the appeal court.

Mr. Justice Roland Ritchie said the 14-year-old car thief posed no danger to the pursuing policemen. The circumstances did not justify the officers taking the risk of firing at him.

Mr. Justice Ronald Martin in a minority decision said the police officers acted properly by firing the warning shots in order to prevent Beim's escape.

Goyer had to fire on the run because if he stopped to aim, the chances of Beim's escaping would be enhanced.

Escape From Nazi Persecution Recalled By New York Event

NEW YORK (AP)—In August 1942, Regina Rotenberg, a Jewish teen-ager fleeing from Nazi persecution, was directed to Rev. Hubert Celis, a Roman Catholic priest who was a member of the Belgian underground in the Second World War. He found a place of refuge for her.

Next month Father Hubert, now 61, will attend the bar mitzvah of Regina's 13-year-old son Norman. The frightened teen-ager of the 1940s now is Mrs. Isak Wolbrom, 39, a New York housewife and the mother of two.

Mrs. Wolbrom says she and the priest, a police chaplain in Brussels, have maintained correspondence for many years.

The bar mitzvah ceremony marks Norman's attainment of the age of religious duty and responsibility.

Mrs. Wolbrom said today of Father Hubert: "There is no word for him. He's just wonderful."

She said the priest will attend the religious service at a synagogue in Queens June 19, a Saturday and the Jewish Sabbath, and the customary reception the next day at a synagogue hall in Brooklyn.

PARENTS KILLED

Mrs. Wolbrom's experience with the horror of the Nazi campaign against the Jews started when she was 13. Her parents were killed at the extermination camp at Auschwitz.

"My children have no grandparents," she said. "I think it only fitting that Father Hubert should be on hand for my son's bar mitzvah because he was the last to see my parents."

Mrs. Wolbrom said Father Hubert "always told me that Jesus preached that one should render any help possible to his fellow men."

"In helping us, he didn't feel he was doing anything extraordinary, but merely following his calling," she said.

"He had a favorite expression: 'I would rather have a good Jew than a bad Catholic.'"

She married in 1946 and moved from Belgium to Israel. The couple came here in 1956.

Anglo-French Planes Planned

LONDON (Reuters)—Britain and France today concluded a formal agreement for the joint production of military planes for their two air forces, well-informed sources here said.

The reported agreement followed talks between British and French ministers at the defence ministry.

The sources said the agreement covered the production of a jet-fighter, trainer plane and an examination of plans to develop a variable-wing interceptor.

British defence minister Denis Healey, the sources said, will formally announce the Anglo-French agreement in Parliament.

The talks were between Healey and Roy Jenkins, the British defence and aviation ministers, and their French counterparts Pierre Messmer and Marc Jacquet, who flew here from Paris this morning.

Joint production of about 1,000 aircraft is expected to be involved under a decision to pool the resources of the aircraft industries of both countries, according to reliable sources here.

Pearson Asks University To Nip Sneering Cynics

REGINA (CP)—Prime Minister Pearson told the first convocation at the Regina campus of the University of Saskatchewan today that universities must guard against the production of young cynics offering defeatism and despair.

He said the task of the university is to reduce the number of people who act on imagination without knowledge or knowledge without imagination.

"To accomplish this task, the university must not be so rigid or monotonous as to produce a pattern of sterile conformity."

"It is of equal importance, however, to prevent a critical and even skeptical independence resulting in the production of smart young cynics who have nothing to offer but defeatism and despair, often concealed by a kind of sneering superiority which is the hallmark of emotional immaturity."

Mr. Pearson said: "The 20th century has witnessed unprecedented, unimagined advances in scientific knowledge and we are now searching with a feeling almost of desperation for creative uses to which this knowledge can be put before its destructive use ends us all."

There is not doubt that we are the best informed and most materially advanced generation that has ever lived.

There is also no doubt that we retain the most primitive tribal ideas about what to do with the knowledge we have acquired and the forces we have released. This may well prove our undoing.

SEEMS INEVITABLE

There are times when one thinks this undoing to be inevitable—that we will build up this planet before we are able to take advantage of the knowledge that makes it possible for us to visit another one.

It is fearful to contemplate the spectre of science divorced from humanistic or moral philosophy, he said.

There must be honest, good

No More Facts Released About Espionage Activities

OTTAWA (CP)—The government has decided it will make public no further information on recent espionage activities which resulted in two Russian embassy officials being sent out of the country.

Acting Prime Minister Martin said today.

His statement in the Commons brought the charge from Opposition Leader Diefenbaker that "it looks like another case of covering up."

Mr. Martin, replying to a demand by Mr. Diefenbaker for the names of two Canadians connected with the case, said the government's decision was taken so as not to disclose the nature of Canadian security measures and how much is known about spy activities.

In security matters involving foreign agents it is difficult to make information public without compromising arrangements to protect the security and safety of Canada, he said.

Some aspects were still under investigation and he appealed to the Commons to follow past practice of resuming the government to decide how much information can safely be revealed.

WORKING ON CASE

Mr. Diefenbaker asked whether in view of espionage activities involving two persons "and possibly others" the government plans to press charges against "wrong-doers" and reveal their names.

educational processes recognizing moral conviction to produce the "complete men" to strengthen unity. The question of national unity is the foremost of Canada's national problems.

Mr. Pearson flew here to receive an honorary doctor of civil laws degree from the University of Saskatchewan. After receiving the degree he addressed the first degree class from the university's Regina campus.
